Jürgen Enders is Professor of Higher Education Management at the School of Management, University of Bath. His academic interest is focused on the study of institutional change in the field of universities, and their role in society and economy. Major areas of research address (1) the regulation, funding and organisation of higher education and research; (2) management/leadership and organisational change in universities; (3) the student experience, employability and graduate careers; (4) the socio-economic impact of universities; and (5) academic work and career. Jürgen also addresses processes of internationalisation and globalisation in higher education and undertakes cross-national comparative research.

Jürgen has been conducting funded research in the field of higher education since the mid 1990s. He has previously worked as the Director of the Center for Higher Education Policy Studies (CHEPS) in the Netherlands and before that as Assistant Professor at the Center for Research on Higher Education and Work in Germany.

He has spent periods as a visiting scholar at the Social Science Research Center Berlin (WZB), Germany; at the Special Research Group 'Transformation of The Nation-State' of the German Research Foundation, University of Bremen, Germany; at the Foundation Nationale de Science Politique, Paris, France; at the University of Beijing; China, and at the University of California, Berkeley, USA.

He is member of the editorial board of the book series 'Higher Education Dynamics' and the journal 'Higher Education'. He has written and (co)edited 14 books, and published more than 100 articles in books and journals such as Organization Studies, Public Management, Public Management Review, Studies in Higher Education, Higher Education and Scientometrics. Recently funded projects include investigations supported by the Dutch Research Council, the European Science Foundation, the German Ministry of Education and Research, and the Ford Foundation.

Jürgen is elected member of the Academia Europaea and of the German Academe of Science and Engineering, and Honorary Fellow of the Society for Research in Higher Education. He is member of the Advisory Committee for Research and Knowledge Exchange of the Higher Education Funding Council for England, of the German Advisory Council for Education, and of the R&D committee of the European Federation for Management Development. He also served as an advisor to the Dutch Association of Universities, the Swiss Science and Technology Council, and as a reviewer to the Excellence Initiative of the German Research Foundation.
